Pastor Rush opens rebuilt church today

By Leslie Williams
Dedication of the newly renovated Church of Our Lord Jesus will begin 10 a.m. today, says Pastor Charles Rush. A dinner outside the church, singing and a visit by six ministers are among activities planned for the dedication scheduled at the church located on the Kiln-Waveland Cutoff near US-90. Services in preparation for the dedication of the nondenominational church were Friday and Saturday night, said Rush. Fenton Rush, 64, former pastor, died last January. His position was assumed by his son Charles Rush. Rush said renovation was necessary because the congregation out-grew the old facility. "Our church emphasizes the teachings of the Book of Acts, one of the 66 Books of the Bible. Special consideration is placed on the teachings of the New Testament Church in the Book of Acts," explains Rush. Rush said his church believes the teachings professed in the New Testament Church are applicable to contemporary society.

Waveland Mayor to make December 5 appointments

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
Mayor John Longo Jr. will announce his choices for chief of police, city attorney, tax assessor-collector and 20 other Waveland offices December 5 if he is re-elected mayor in the General election. All of the appointments made by the mayor will be submitted to the Waveland aldermen for ratification, Longo said. Other Waveland offices the mayor will make appointments to include: city secretary, deputy tax assessor-collector, registrar of voters, a three member Municipal Election Commission, mayor protem, second mayor protem, street foreman, city engineer, chief clerk-water and gas, water and gas and sewerage bond clerk, zoning official, Civil Defense Advisory Commission, Civil Defense Director, assistant chief of police, chief investigator, fire chief, assistant fire chief, police justice and a five member zoning board.

Waveland City Council members at their meeting Wednesday said raw sewage is flowing from a Bay St. Louis oxidation pond through Waveland and into Edward's Bayou.

Mayor Longo said he will ask Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennet to discontinue the flow of the partially treated sewage.

Longo said he received a letter from the Gulf Regional Planning Commission asking him to endorse a feasibility study on public transportation within Hancock County.

Longo said the study would be financed with federal funds. The mayor said a previous study done on public transportation showed there is no need for public transportation in Hancock County, adding, "I think the study is a total waste of money, but you (aldermen) can do what you want."

The council took the matter under advisement.

Mayor Longo said he plans to attend a meeting of the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission to discuss setting up a tri-county Sewer Treatment Commission. Officials of Hancock, Harrison and Stone counties are also invited to the meeting.

Points of discussion at the Dec. 5 meeting at the Biloxi Hilton beginning at 5:30 p.m. will be whether the commissioners should be elected or appointed to a regional sewer treatment commission, how many commissioners will it take to administer such a program, and if appointed, by whom.

Also at the council meeting, Mary Davies, of England was made an honorary citizen of Waveland.

Bay man arrested for impersonating policeman

By LESLIE WILLIAMS
A Bay St. Louis man who visited the homes of three elderly women identifying himself as a police officer was convicted Wednesday in city court of impersonating a police officer. Darryle Smith, 20, of 344 Kellar St. went to the homes of three female senior citizens in Bay St. Louis describing himself as investigator David Sellar of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, said Police Chief Douglas Williams.

"Once at the senior citizens home, Smith would begin asking the women if they had any money, or kept a gun in the house and questions of this nature," continued Williams.

Williams said Mary Carver's home on 522 Booker St. was the only house Smith entered after identifying himself as a police officer.

The homes of Gladys Blake of 108 Third St. and Zenobia Gilbert of 311 Sycamore Street were the other two visited by Smith.

Smith admitted to impersonating an officer in all three cases, stated Williams.

Bay St. Louis Court Judge Joseph

Benvenuti found Smith guilty of three counts of impersonating an officer. Smith will be sentenced at a later date.

Smith was apprehended Tuesday by Williams and policeman Larry Ladner following reports given of Smith's visit to their home.

Officers Alton Benoit and Dave Sellar assisted in the investigation.

Two plus Two extended to PRC, Vo-Tech

Pearl River Junior College and the Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center in Bay St. Louis will soon receive a popular "Two plus Two" program, offered by the University of Southern Mississippi, a spokesman for USM said.

Two plus Two calls for the first two years of college to be completed in the junior college and the last two at the senior institution. In Harrison, Jackson and Stone counties the program is between the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College and USM.

The program between PRC and USM in Hancock County will hold freshman and sophomore classes at the Vo-Tech Center on a part-time night basis and junior, senior and graduate work with USM Gulf Park in Long Beach.

Currently there are nine lower division (freshman-sophomore) courses at the Vo-Tech Center. These are in the areas of English Literature, Accounting, English, History, Physical Science, Algebra, General Math, Psychology, and Economics.

Coastal public bikeway study set in motion

By Leslie Williams
A study to determine the likelihood of creating a public bikeway south of I-10 from the Louisiana border to the Alabama border is underway, says Fred Wise, manager of transportation for the Gulf Regional Planning Commission (GRPC).

The study which began in early November should be completed in approximately six months, says Wise. The feasibility of constructing the bikeway, and alternative routes will be determined in the study, asserts Wise.

The study will be done by the GRPC and the Research Planning Institute (RPI), a consultant firm from New Orleans.

"The study calls for development of a plan which identifies and locates alternative bike route locations and funding sources for both immediate bike safety programs and long range construction."

"If all goes as planned, a portion of the bikeways system could be financed by federal construction and demonstration project funds available through the Federal Highway Administration, The Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, or the Department of Housing and Urban Development," says Wise.

Information obtained in the study will be used to apply for federal grants to provide money to build bikeways in the future.

"We have an excellent chance of implementing the coastal bikeway," exclaims Wise.

If the bike network is created, the network will be constructed in phases. Criteria for determining which area will get bikeway segments first will be based on availability of monies and the demand for a bikeway by an area, explained Wise.

A series of meetings will occur in December to acquaint the public with the benefits of regional and local bikeway networks. A free showing of the film "Bikeways- Let's Get Serious" will be shown at the meetings.

"Most people don't realize it," says Wise "but when traveling less than five miles, the bicycle is the most efficient and economical form of transportation available."

"It is fairly common knowledge that the average automobile costs 15 cents per mile to operate, but few realize a bicycle only costs 1 cent per mile to own, operate and maintain," he added.

109 local students selected to Who's Who

A total of 109 students from this area have been selected for the twelfth annual edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1977-1978."

Who's Who, published by Educational Communications, Inc., Northbrook, Illinois, is the largest high school recognition program in the country.

Students are nominated for the volume by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups and churches or by the publishing company based upon students' performance in scholarship award contests, or extra-curricular activities.

Final selection is determined on the basis of criteria which include high achievement in academics and leadership in school activities, athletics or community service.

The Twelfth edition of Who's Who, published in six regional volumes, features 320,000 students, or 5 percent of the nation's 6,500,000 high school juniors and seniors. They represent 20,000 of the 24,000 public and private and parochial schools in the country.

Who's Who students also compete for over $40,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's annual opinion poll of teen attitudes.

The book is distributed on a complimentary basis to over 10,000 high schools, colleges, universities and public libraries throughout the country.

State Highway Department travels very slowly

On May 7, 1978, District Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro wrote a letter to the Mississippi State Highway Department requesting extension of the 40 mile-per-hour speed zone on Hwy. 603 in Kiln.

A reply was received by Supervisor Perniciaro on June 13, 1978 saying, "We will study the location and advise you of our findings and recommendations upon completion of our investigation."

With the month of November fast closing, we wonder if the Highway Department is using a snail to study the request, because when Perniciaro was contacted this week he said he was still waiting for the recommendations from the State Highway Department.

Several months ago, District Three Supervisor Oscar Peterson recommended four laning Hwy. 603 from Kiln to U.S. 90, and received unanimous support from his fellow board members. That proposal also has been taken under study by the Highway Department and we haven't heard any recommendations on that project either.

Perniciaro's proposal calls for extension of the existing 40 mph speed limit one quarter in each direction and installation of warning signals.

The amount of traffic, winding route of the road, and increased business activity in the Kiln area warrant an updating of the speed limit.

True, reduction in the speed limit may not have avoided the recent tragedies, but, they could have, because no one will know for sure.

We now worry about the future, and proper planning today is important for the future, before long the future will be here.

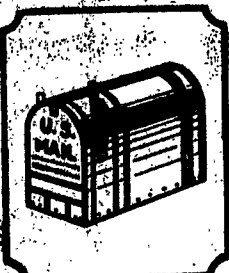

The recent crackdown by the Highway Patrol on speeders on Hwy. 603 has proved one thing for sure, and that is the drivers of automobiles and pickup trucks are now more guilty of speeding than the large trucks which all the residents seemed to be complaining about before the crackdown.

We are not saying the large truckers were not speeding, but they sure are wise. They slow down while many of the drivers of cars and pickups are paying the penalty for speeding.

We hope the Highway Patrol lives on Hwy. 603 until everyone realizes the dangers of speeding on such a hazardous road. There is a need for a complete study of Hwy. 603, yet, at the rate the State Highway Department moves it may take to the year 2000.

Dear Sir,

Your readers should know what good Thanksgiving things happened again at Gulf View Haven Nursing Home.

A fine and sincere gesture of bringing cheer and pleasure to disabled, elderly people is done by First Missionary Baptist Church, Sycamore St., Bay St. Louis. Rev. Collins pastor.

For quite a few years the ladies of the congregation have made festive holiday trays of choice fresh fruit, most colorful and attractive and personally delivered to each of the patients with good wishes and Christian blessings.

I wish to express gratitude and thanks from all patients to First Missionary Baptist Church for the happiness their efforts bring to make the Thanksgiving Holiday bright.

"These nine classes will be our starting basis and others will be added as the need arises," said Dr. Marvin White, President of Pearl River Junior College.

The Two plus Two program has been operating between MGCJC and USM for several years, providing for all course work in over thirty degree programs to be completed on the Coast.

Students may complete their freshman and sophomore course work at either campus of the MGCJC and junior and senior work at USM Gulf Park, Keesler, or the Jackson County resident center.

"I hope that someday the need will cause our course offerings to be such that all freshman and sophomore course work can be accomplished right here at the Vo-Tech Center and then the students can go right on the USM Gulf Park for the final two years," said Al Bourgeois, director of the Vo-Tech Center.

Individuals interested in freshman and sophomore course work at the Vo-Tech Center should contact Bourgeois for information and counseling. A Two plus Two Career Catalog has been published by USM and PRC to aid the student in determining course sequence for both PRC and USM courses.

"Two plus Two has proven to be a benefit to many students that want to complete their entire four years of college right here on the Coast, and our extension of the program to the residents of Hancock County will give them the opportunity, as the program develops to have the first two years right in their own community," said Dr. Joe Holloway, Dean of the USM Gulf Park.

Entertainment will be by that beloved and versatile performer Ms. June Dearman, and all of her wonderful puppet friends.

June does all of her performance for only one salary, Love, and we are going to see that she is one of the highest paid. We wish to thank the City County Library Department for giving time off to June, who is a librarian, to entertain the Seniors.

SOCIAL HOUR
Our regular Social Hour took place Monday, Nov. 13 and was really a great success with 115 Seniors in attendance. This event is growing leaps and bounds by the effort you each are putting out. OPEN HOUSE
The Annual Open House and Bazaar, Friday, Nov. 17 was very successful this year.

This is the time of year that one day is set aside with an invitation to all the residents of the County to come and witness the accomplishments of the 22 classes, recreational programs, nutrition dept., and the day care dept.

The wares displayed and sold by the ceramic, oil painting, water coloring, and sketching, horticulture, macrame, framing, Christmas decorations, rug sewing, liquid embroidery, and many other classes, were beautiful to behold.

Partakers of the red beans, rice, and sausage dinner thought they were delicious. To all of our citizens who attended our Open House and Bazaar, a personal thank you for caring from all members of the staff.

Seniors, who had worked so hard, you really made it "One of the Good Days."

Our deep Appreciation to Al Summy for painting the sign displayed in front of the Center that was beneficial in making our Bazaar a huge success.

Also all of the local merchants for displaying our announcement posters, and American Legion Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis, and American Legion Post No. 77, Waveland, for making vocal announcements to their members and guests.

Looking forward to seeing you all again next year neighbors, The Good Lord Willing.

DAY CARE
The Head Start Program children, under the guidance of Judy Tate and members of the staff, entertained the Seniors from the Day Care Center Monday, Nov. 20, at 1 p.m. with a program of songs, recitations and quotes.

These children have presented programs on many occasions for our Seniors, and each has been different, and if possible, better than the one before.

A successful program is always told by how the attention of the audience is held and by the applause.

If we had an applause meter, the children would have easily rated an Excellence for performance.

HOLIDAYS
The Senior Citizens Center will be closed Thanksgiving Day Thursday, Nov. 23 and Friday, Nov. 24.

WAVELAND
The Senior Citizens Club of Waveland held its regular business meeting Monday Nov. 13 at 10 a.m. at the Waveland Civic Center, on Coleman Avenue.

Guest speaker was Ms. Barbara Rappold, City Clerk of Waveland.

She reported to the membership the improvements the City of Waveland had made at the Civic Center, and on other programs in process.

We apologize for the error we made in the last column. Election of Officers was at the November meeting instead of the December as reported.

The slate of officers for 1979 are: Pers Cahill, president; Dudley McCall, first vice president; Eunice Murray, second vice president; Katherine Galivan, secretary; and Elsie McCall, treasurer.

Installation of officers will be at the regular meeting Monday Dec. 11 at 11 a.m. with the annual Christmas Party following the meeting at the Civic Center.

AARP
The American Association of Retired Persons, Hancock County Chapter No. 1114 held its regular meeting at the Civic Center on Monday, Nov. 20 at 10 a.m.

The slate of officers for 1979, as presented to the members:

She was taken to Hancock General, and then transferred to Gulfport Memorial; Ivory Williams from our Day Care Center has been released from the hospital and has rejoined the group; Charles Maumus of Waveland has been released from the hospital in New Orleans where he had a Pace Maker. Charles is a very good and close friend and it gave this old heart pleasure to see him back.

Information and referral on Third and Citizen Streets has the following staff members on the sick list: Gloria Madre, coordinator of Hancock County is recuperating at home after a short illness; Lillian Newman, Edith Chevis was hospitalized, released and has once again returned to Hancock General for further tests.

We wish all of these folks a very speedy recovery.

THANKSGIVING MESSAGE
The good Lord sends me troubles and I have to work them out. But I look around and see that there's trouble all about. And when I see my troubles, Why I just look up and grin, and then count up all the troubles, that I'm not in. This, in a brief way, is my counting of blessings. I have come to the stage in life that I can enjoy all of the troubles I could have but don't.

I have throughout the year that is fast passing by thanked all the folks who have been so helpful to us Seniors and to all the Volunteers.

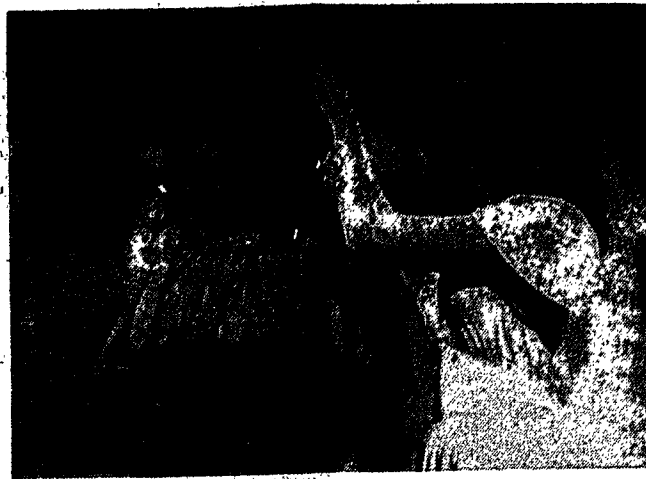

But, for the first time, I personally want to thank and give my verbal orchids to The Sea Coast Echo, and all of the staff members who have been so generous with so much space for our column; for photos and more space for special events and for the many other kindnesses to the Seniors.

But most of all as a Citizen of Hancock County, thank you for keeping me abreast of all the news of my community, for the fine editorials, and last, but not least, for being a Good neighbor.

May God bless you and your on this Thanksgiving Day. Thank Him for peace, health, and the greatest country under his Heaven, and most of all for our love to all.

Bless this house (my own body), O Lord I Pray, Keep it Safe.

Don't let hate, greed, or envy, enter in by Night or Day.

Museum seeks panther reports

Do panthers still exist in Mississippi? Unofficially, some hunters, farmers and land owners say they have seen the big cats for years. According to one source the last reported panther kill in Mississippi was in 1900. There have been no verified sightings, photographs or track casts in many years. But people report seeing them. What are they seeing?

In cooperation with the Jackson office of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the state Game and Fish Commission's Museum of Natural Science has started a program to gather evidence of where, if at all, the cat lives in the state.

It hopes to act as a clearinghouse for future panther sightings.

According to museum mammalogist Cathy Carter, hunters, fishermen, campers and anyone else who believes they have seen the long-tailed animal are asked to record evidence of the animal and notify the museum at once.

"When a person thinks he has seen a panther, it would be most helpful to us if they would record what ever they find about the animal, for instance the size of the paw print, scat remains, photographs, scrapes and anything else," Carter said.

"Along with this data, we would like to have the name, address, and phone number of the observer, and we need the time and date of the sighting, detailed location, description of the terrain and an account of the sighting."

The information should be sent to the Mississippi Museum of Natural Science, 11 N. Jefferson St., Jackson, MS, 39202.

The specie of panther which may or may not live in Mississippi is the Florida panther. Some lists believe this cat may be on the verge of extinction and Mississippi is one of only a handful of states where there may be hope for survival.

Areas in Mississippi where the cat may be found include sections of land from the lower Delta, down the Mississippi River and across the Homochitto National Forest into the coastal swamps. Likely spots also exist in adjacent sections of Louisiana and Arkansas.

Recognized as endangered since the 1950s, estimates of the panther's numbers in southern states are highly controversial. The Florida panther may number as few as 100 individuals, with most living in Florida.

Anyone seeing a panther in their area may call the Commission toll-free at 1-800-682-5471.

'BLACK ORCHID'
By NICHOLAS MEYER
AUTHOR OF
'THE SEVEN-PER-CENT SOLUTION'
AND CO-AUTHOR
BARRY JAY KAPLAN,
PUBLISHED BY BANTAM

Black Orchid is an adventure novel by Nicholas Meyer, author of bestselling The Seven-Per-Cent Solution, and co-author Barry Jay Kaplan, published by Bantam.

Set at the turn of the century in Manaus, a splendid city built in the heart of the Amazon jungle, the action centers on Harry Kincaid, a ruthless adventurer on a secret mission, and Delores Mendonca, the beautiful but dangerous woman who threatens his plans.

Black Orchid is based on an actual incident, the breakup of a world rubber market monopoly controlled by two Brazilian dynasties.

In the novel, Kincaid, a "turn of the century James Bond" is assigned by the British government to smuggle the seeds of the rubber plants out of Brazil for cultivation in the Far East. Manaus, once the sixth richest city in the world, actually existed. Built by billionaire rubber merchants who guarded their holdings with private armies, Manaus boasted electric lights, resplendent mansions, and an opera house which rivalled La Scala.

Kincaid comes to Manaus posing as an orchid collector, and soon meets all its exotic inhabitants, from Athene, a costly prostitute with diamond fillings in her teeth, to Delores, spoiled daughter of Manaus' most powerful citizen.

In carrying out his dangerous mission, Kincaid meets with romance and treachery.

Black Orchid climaxes with a perilous escape down the Amazon that the San Diego Union called "a posh version of The African Queen."

ABOUT THE

AUTHORS

Nicholas Meyer is the author of two previous bestsellers, The Seven-Per-Cent Solution, which became a successful motion picture, and The West End Horror.

Meyer teamed up with Barry Jay Kaplan, author of a dozen romances and Gothics, as a result of a "pact" they made in the mid-1960's when they were both students at the University of Iowa: "Nick said that whichever of us made it first, would help the other," recalls Kaplan. "We had an exciting sense of destiny, and we knew we were going to do great things. He was 19 and I was 21, and I secretly thought I'd be the one to make it first!"

Meyer is currently alternating his time between films and a new novel. Kaplan is at work on a play.

LIFTING UP JESUS

Just whispering the name of Jesus sounds like a thunder clap in Heaven, why not take it upon your lips and leave it there - until we are swept out into eternity together.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus LaFontaine are shown accepting delivery of their new Chevrolet Pickup from Turan-Lane Chevrolet salesman Hak Doyle.

"We were looking to purchase a new pickup truck. We shopped around and talked to Hak Doyle at Turan-Lane Chevrolet. Checking over the large selection of trucks at Turan-Lane Chevrolet we found the type of pickup and color we were interested in purchasing. We like the professional and friendly way everyone treated us at Turan-Lane Chevrolet."

GRAPE CRANBERRY MARMALADE IS COLORFUL HOLIDAY TREAT

If you're wishing you had taken advantage of summer's fresh fruits to put up jams and jellies for holiday gift-giving, wish no more. Contrary to popular opinion, you don't always have to plan ahead to look like you did. Late starters can look like a million with a little grape juice and some cranberries, thanks to the clever home economists at the Ball Corporation.

GRAPE CRANBERRY MARMALADE

2 cups Concord grape juice
2 cups stemmed cranberries
1/2 teaspoon grated orange peel
3 cups sugar

Combine juice, cranberries and orange peel; bring to boiling. Add sugar; bring slowly to boiling, stirring until sugar dissolves. Cook rapidly to jelling point, about 5 minutes. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking. Pour boiling hot into hot jars, leaving 1/2-inch headspace. Adjust caps. Process 15 minutes in boiling water bath. Yield: about 4 half-pints.

FALL JOBS

You've got your crops out, but have you prepared your fields for the 1979 crop? Performing needed jobs now while the weather is still good can mean the difference between crop success or failure next year.

One of the most important fall jobs is applying lime to soils where tests show a need for it. Lime is critically needed on about 37 percent of Mississippi's cropland. It is estimated that a good statewide liming program would increase the value of Mississippi's cropland. It is estimated that a good statewide liming program would increase the value of Mississippi's crops by $10 to $100 million a year.

If you haven't already done so, you should deep plow, subsoil or chisel soils that need it. These practices will help the soil collect water better over the winter and expose the roots of perennial grasses and weeds to freezing weather. This will mean fewer problems with these pests in next year's crops.

If you have soils critically low in organic matter, planting winter cover crops can slightly build up this important soil component. Legumes planted as cover crops will add 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre for use by row crops.

Other fall jobs you may need to consider are land forming or filling potholes; applying herbicides to soils plowed this fall, and storing equipment properly so it will be ready when you are next spring.

PREVENTING EROSION

Most cropland soil losses occur during the winter and early spring. Soil subject to severe erosion should not be pulverized by tilling this fall. Strongly sloping land to be row cropped in 1979 should have the residue shredded and left on the surface. Chisel plowing or subsoiling on the contour this fall will improve water intake and reduce erosion on the soils.

The chisel plow, run as the last trip over this fall, will leave mixed clay soils rough cut down on erosion and increase water intake. Borders, drain ditches and all adjustment strips should be in an established sod to slow runoff and erosion.

CATTLE LICE

Infestations of cattle lice can be a serious problem for cattle producers during the winter. If left uncontrolled, these pests can cause slow weight gains and leave cattle more susceptible to disease. Cattle lice can be controlled with proper insecticide applications of sprays, pour-ons, dips or dusts. Select the method of treatment that best suits your needs. Follow label directions carefully.

SMALL GRAINS

There is still time to get wheat and oats for grain planted. Plant before Thanksgiving, but if you can't get grains in by then, you can plant as late as December 1 on sandy soils in this area. Fertilize according to soil test, wheat and oats for grain need only 20 to 30 pounds of nitrogen at planting and 40 to 50 pounds of phosphate and potash. How much phosphate and potash need to be added depends on how much are in the soil. Small grain following soybeans should not require any more nitrogen, if the bean crop was good.

Pollution problems included in Conservation program

ACP EMPHASIZES POLLUTION, CONSERVATION PROBLEMS

The 1979 agricultural conservation program (ACP), recently announced by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), emphasizes rural pollution abatement and solutions to soil, water and woodland conservation problems.

ACP is one of the conservation programs, administered by ASCS designed to assist farmers in solving pollution, soil and water conservation problems.

The ASC committee is responsible for determining the most needed practices to solve the conservation problems in Pearl River and Hancock Counties.

Funded at $190 million, the national ACP provides both technical and financial assistance to farmers whose land is a source of agricultural pollution or is affected by wind or water erosion.

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASC

County Office, said that the 1979 program advocates providing enduring solutions to these problems, and is aimed at farmers who would not carry out approved conservation practices without some cost-sharing incentive. The payment limit on cost-sharing is $3,500 per person. According to Gennin, the county ACP will be based on a set of practices developed at the national level.

"These practices will represent a wide range of solutions to conservation and pollution problems," Gennin said.

Additional practices could be developed at the county level to meet specific pollution or conservation problems he added.

State and county development groups will establish a priority system for identifying and solving conservation problems. Details of the 1979 ACP will be published in the Federal Register about Nov. 1. The public will then have 60 days in which to comment on the proposed program.

Whitfield gift program needs Hancock's support

By EDGAR PEREZ.
The Mississippi State Hospital at Whitfield is conducting a Christmas gift program to insure that all patients receive at least one gift Christmas Day.

Mrs. Maggie M. Brantley, director of volunteer services at the hospital, has issued an appeal to Hancock County residents for assistance in the gift program.

"At the Mississippi State Hospital, volunteers and staff members work together to make the Christmas Season a happy and joyous occasion for all the patients of the Hospital," she said.

"Through the volunteer services department, citizens are given the opportunity to remember and give to those less fortunate through the gift project," she continued.

"On Christmas morning every patient receives a beautifully wrapped package. The patients are aware that these gifts are made possible through the kindness of people who care, throughout the state," Mrs. Brantley added.

Almost any gift, especially those in plastic containers, is acceptable.

Some suggestions are as follows: cigarettes, candy, cookies, hairbrushes, cosmetics (all kinds for both men and women), scarves, lingerie, house slippers, raincoats, sweaters, and purses.

"Remember the patients like pretty things, too, so please do not send used articles," the director noted.

"Do not wrap gifts, as volunteers do this. We request that all packages be sent by December 12 so that they may be appropriately selected and wrapped before Christmas."

Packages may be mailed to: Volunteer Services Department, Mississippi State Hospital, Post Office Box 75, Whitfield, Mississippi 39193.
